The Code of Hammurabi

KING OF BABYLON ABOUT 2250 B.C.

Edited by ROBERT FRANCIS HARPER

Second Edition

Contains the Autographed Text, Transliteration, Translation, Glossary, Index of Subjects, List of Proper Names, Signs, Numerals, Corrections and Erasures, with Map, Frontispiece, and Photograph of Text.

Price $4.00, net
(Weight 3 lbs. 8 oz.)

THIS Code of Laws, the oldest known to man, was discovered only a few years ago. King Hammurabi collected the laws as they were administered in the Babylonian courts, attached his own name to this first written code, promulgated it as the law of the land, and thus fixed judicial procedure not only for his own time, but for all succeeding centuries of Babylonian national existence. No more important document has come down to us; in it are reflected the customs, morals, religion, business relations, in short the whole Weltanschauung of the ancient Babylonians. The fact that the book is now in its second edition attests the popular favor accorded to this adequate English version of the laws

THE EVOLUTION OF EARLY CHRISTIANITY

By SHIRLEY JACKSON CASE, Professor of Early Church History and New Testament Interpretation in the University of Chicago

The beginnings of the Christian movement are here studied from a wholly new point of view. By examining the actual religious situation in which the Christians of the first century lived, the author is able to shed fresh light on many parts of the New Testament.

"It is a thoroughly scholarly and satisfactory study of an important period of growth and transition concerning which there has been but little heretofore available for the general reader." —The Congregationalist.

The Life of
Lieutenant General Chaffee

By Major General WILLIAM HARDING CARTER
Commanding the Central Department

This is the biography of one of America's great soldiers—the only man who ever rose from the rank of private in the Regular Army to the highest military office in the nation.

General Chaffee enlisted as a private in the Civil War, and at its close held the rank of first lieutenant. He engaged in the Indian Wars of the Southwest. He took part in the Santiago campaign, which resulted in the surrender of the Spanish forces. He led the American Expeditionary Force sent to the relief of the besieged legations in China at the time of the Boxer uprising. He was military governor of the Philippines at the time that William Howard Taft was civil governor. He rounded out the closing years of active service as Chief of Staff of the United States Army—the highest military position.

SPIRIT, SOUL, AND FLESH

By* ERNEST D. BURTON
Professor and Head of the Department of New Testament and Early Christian Literature, the University of Chicago

A volume of the Historical and Linguistic Studies in Literature Related to the New Testament

Professor Burton makes a practically exhaustive examination of the terms "spirit," "soul," and "flesh" as they appear in Greek literature for more than a thousand years, or from Homer to 200 A.D.

A similarly thorough treatment is made of their Hebrew equivalents.

The result lays a broad foundation for an authoritative judgment as to the interpretation of many of the most significant passages of the New Testament and the definition of some of the most fundamental conceptions of its writers, particularly of the Apostle Paul.

The book is indispensable, not only to all libraries consulted by New Testament interpreters, but to all students of the Greek New Testament.
